Reproductions of materials from the collections of the Chicago History Museum are provided under license agreement for purposes as indicated in writing by the user and agreed upon by the Museum. Conditions governing their use are specified on a contractual agreement generated by the Museum and to be signed both by the user and a representative of the Museum.

Costs for reproduction of materials from the Museum's collections are the sum of two fees: permission fees and production fees. Chicago History Museum reserves the right to require special fees for some types of commercial uses. All fees listed here are current as of August 10, 2007; fees are subject to change.
